Fastsize Extender Review

The FastSize Penis Stretcher uses a silicone noose wrapped with a layer of foam to hold down the penis. While this setup isn't as comfortable to wear as the X4 Labs stretcher or the SizeGenetics stretcher, the additional of the layer of foam still makes it quite comfortable to wear (compared to just the noose alone). Again, more comfort means you'll wear it for longer, which will translate into faster increase in penis size.

The good thing about FastSize is the outstanding customer service provided by its manufacturer. Even before buying their stretcher, you can access their online forum to ask pre-sales questions and to see what other customers are saying about the stretcher – the good, the bad, and the ugly. In addition to asking questions in the forum, you can also reach their customer service reps via live chat, phone, email and fax.

And they pay attention to customer complaints – and take action to address them. Some time ago, some customers reported the problem of the noose occasionally slipping off the penis. Shortly after, the FastSize company thought of a solution – they designed what they called "duro bands" that were added to the stretcher to reduce the slippage issue. The Fastsize team is also constantly re-designing the unit to improve comfort and other aspects. With this kind of continuous improvement, it wouldn't surprise me if one day Fastsize becomes the top player in the penis stretcher market.
